This project was proposed by the students of the Hanover Historical Review and managed by Dr. Sarah Vosmeier, Professor of History at Hanover College. This was a follow up project to the first One Day in May Project at Hanover College on May 15, 2020. It is based on a project created by the United Kingdom's Mass Observation Archive. Participants are invited to submit "day diaries" on a specific day, describing the specifics of everyday life. Hanover College asked participants to describe a day during November classes.
