Collection Information:

Scope and Content Note

The William A. Caldwell Photographs collection contains both photographs (individual and small photobook) and stereoviews (also known as stereo cards) of Hanover College, Hanover, and Madison, Jefferson County, Indiana. Topics include waterfalls, nature, the Ohio River, Hanover College buildings, Hanover College students and their activities, and Hanover College faculty including Professor Andrew Harvey Young, an 1871 Hanover College graduate. Some of the nature-oriented locations pictured in the collection include Butler Falls, Chain Mill Falls, Chimney Rocks, Clifty Falls, Hart's Falls, Hermitage (or Horseshoe) Falls, Madison Road, and Niagara Boulder. Caldwell also published a book with an assortment of nature and local photographs from Hanover along with Hanover College entitled Souvenir of Hanover, Indiana; it can be found in the Hanover College Duggan Library.

Historical Information

Hanover College was founded in 1827 by John Finley Crowe, a Presbyterian minister, in southern Indiana as a Presbyterian Seminary. The college was the first private college in the state of Indiana.

William A. Caldwell was an 1874 graduate of Hanover College. He worked as a photographer in Indianapolis, Indiana. He took photographs of Hanover College and the scenery in and nearby Hanover and Madison, Jefferson County, Indiana.

Andrew Harvey Young was an 1871 graduate of Hanover College. He served as the principal of the Hanover Academy, or Preparatory School, from 1872-73. Young became a natural science professor at Hanover College in 1879 and taught until his death in 1926.

Organization

Items in the collection are separated into three boxes. Box 1 contains all the stereoviews along with the small photobook. Box 2 contains all photographs smaller than 8.5 x 11 in size. All photographs larger than 8.5 x 11 are stored in OV_Box6.
