Describe your day on May 15, 2023. Tell us whatever you'd like at whatever length you'd like. We think future students will especially appreciate hearing about concrete details -- What can you see and hear from where you are right now? What did you do for fun today? Who did you spend time with? Did you cook or eat anything special? Did you work or do chores?

Today I am preparing to move. My husband recently died and I am staying with my sister in Michigan City, IN. It's a quaint little city nestled on the south shore of Lake Michigan. The birds are singing on this beautiful day.

We'd also like to hear about what learning looks like for you. When you think of the Hanover classes that have mattered the most to you, what do you see? A specific classroom, lab, or studio? your favorite late-night study location? What about lessons learned at Hanover outside of the classroom -- do you see conversations over meals? locker room celebrations? shared community service? the streets of a foreign city during an off-campus class? If you're no longer on campus, what does learning look like now?

I loved attending Hanover College. I felt so much smarter after completing those grueling, yet rewarding, classes. My favorite class was English, as I enjoy reading and writing more than anything. I worked as a teacher and lawyer, so I am very thankful that Hanover helped prepare me for those stressful occupations. I truly cherish the enduring friendships that I forged at Hanover with some of the best people in the world, such as Lisa Tuvell, Jennifer Wheeler, Kim Crossett, and Lori Lewis. We all agree that a trip to Rupp Arena in my boyfriend's (Gary Miller, Indiana University) ambulance (he owns Fagen-Miller/Prompt Ambulance) to see a Journey concert was a highlight of our college experience. I think Hanover College brought me the best years of my life.

The "One Day in May" project preserves the everyday experiences of Hanoverians on an ordinary spring day (in this case, May 15, 2023). The Submitter has consented to its being made available to library users, and granted Hanover College a nonexclusive, perpetual, royalty free license to use, duplicate and distribute it.
