RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

Beside instruction, according to the preceding course, in Natural Theology, the Analogy of Natural and Revealed Religion, the Evidences of Christianity, and Moral Philosophy, the students are required to attend on the reading of the Scriptures and prayer daily in the chapel, and on public worship on the Sabbath. The President and Professors also give instruction on Sabbath evenings to the several classes, in a portion of the Holy Scriptures; and in their daily intercourse inculcate the principles and duties of Christianity.

GOVERNMENT.

It is the aim of the Faculty to govern the institution, not by minute regulations, enforced by a system of espionage and coercion, which provoke transgression and injure character; but by bringing the influence of moral and religious principle to bear upon the students, and thus throwing them, as far as practicable, upon their own responsibilities, and inducing them to govern themselves. Free and confidential intercourse between the students and their instructors is encouraged, and the government is parental in its character. Those students with whom these means are ineffectual are silently returned to their parents or guardians.

COMMENCEMENT.

The annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday of September.

SESSIONS FOR STUDY.

There are two sessions, of five months each, in the year: The first begins on the first Monday of November: the second on the first Monday of May. Students suffer great disadvantage from not being present at the commencement of the session.

VACATIONS.

There are two vacations, of one month each; the one in April; the other in October.

EXAMINATIONS.

There is a public examination of all the classes at the close of each session.

EXPENSE.

College Bills are $25,00 per annum.

Good boarding in respectable private families can be obtained for from $1,25, to $1,75 per week.

Room rent, ~~$2,00~~ per session. 4-3 00-0

Fuel, light, washing, &c. extra.

Facilities are afforded to those who wish to defray a part of their expenses, by labor in their leisure hours.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to college are required to furnish evidence, of good moral character, of their proficiency in the part of the course of studies preparatory to the standing for which they are offered; and, if from another college, a certificate of regular dismission.

Those who do not purpose to pursue a full college course are allowed to attend to such studies as they desire, either in the Preparatory Department, or as university students in any of the classes of the college.

Payment of college bills and room rent is required in advance; and no deduction is made on account of absence during the first two months of the session.

ADDITIONAL REMARKS.

The location of this institution within one mile of the Ohio River, between the two flourishing cities of Cincinnati and Louisville, and six miles from the city of Madison, makes it easy of access from the vast region for which that stream is the great thoroughfare. Its situation in a small and retired village, of great salubrity, gives to it advantages in respect to cheapness of living, health, and exemption from the temptations of more populous towns. By a public vote the retail of ardent spirits is excluded from the township. The moral and religious character of the surrounding community and the watchful care of the Faculty afford securities for the safety and welfare of the students. The institution is surmounting the embarrassments to which it was subjected from the damage done to its buildings by the tornado by which it was visited and from other temporary causes, and, under the blessing of him whose Divine favor is invoked upon it, possesses the most encouraging prospects of permanent and enlarged usefulness and prosperity.
