Describe your day on May 15, 2022.

Tell us whatever you'd like at whatever length you'd like. We think future students will especially appreciate hearing about concrete details -- What can you see and hear from where you are right now? What did you do for fun today? Did you cook or eat anything special? Who did you spend time with? Was today a day of rest? a day for religion? a day to catch up on work?

This morning, I went to church with my husband. I wore a pair of leggings with a tank dress and an overshirt, and we had Wendy's for lunch when we got home. Right now, I am sitting on a couch with my cat near me. He is laying as close as he possibly can with the laptop also in my lap. I have just finished doing the last of my continuing education requirements for an Ivy Tech course to maintain my K-6 teaching license. Tomorrow I will return to Monday as normal as a preschool teacher. We're preparing the students for pre-K graduation at the end of the week.

We'd also like to hear about what a typical Sunday is/was like for you at Hanover. Tell us about how you usually spend/spent Sundays at Hanover -- at whatever length you'd like. We think future students will especially appreciate hearing the small details of everyday life.

When I was at Hanover, from my sophomore year on I went to church on Sundays. I helped prepare communion and taught the young children's Bible classes. When I came back to campus, I tried to get brunch. The biscuits and gravy were my favorite. I would usually do laundry in the Wiley basement, and I might go to either a friend's dorm, to the old coffee shop, or to the Underground to study after church.

This is my contribution to the "One Day in May" project, which preserves the everyday experiences of Hanoverians on an ordinary spring day (in this case, May 15, 2022). I consent to its being made available to library users, and I grant Hanover College a nonexclusive, perpetual, royalty free license to use, duplicate and distribute it.
