Describe your day on May 15, 2022.

Tell us whatever you'd like at whatever length you'd like. We think future students will especially appreciate hearing about concrete details -- What can you see and hear from where you are right now? What did you do for fun today? Did you cook or eat anything special? Who did you spend time with? Was today a day of rest? a day for religion? a day to catch up on work?

I woke up around 9am, and began to work on my research paper for my history course, Herodotus and the Greco-Persian War. I wrote about a page and called it quits, and began to pack up some stuff to get ready to go home. I ate lunch at the underground, and came back to my room in Blythe and played some video games. I went to taco bell with my girlfriend, and brought it back to eat in my room. After that, I went for a walk with her, and went about a mile. Finally, I finished my night at wiffleball, where I beat a team of FIJI's, the fraternity I belonged to, 6-0, it was a great win.

We'd also like to hear about what a typical Sunday is/was like for you at Hanover. Tell us about how you usually spend/spent Sundays at Hanover – at whatever length you'd like. We think future students will especially appreciate hearing the small details of everyday life.

This is my contribution to the "One Day in May" project, which preserves the everyday experiences of Hanoverians on an ordinary spring day (in this case, May 15, 2022). I consent to its being made available to library users, and I grant Hanover College a nonexclusive, perpetual, royalty free license to use, duplicate and distribute it.
